Attention Backwoods Employees:

COVID-19 is a global health challenge that requires an equally strong, coordinated and responsible cooperation across governments, companies and individuals.

After collaborating with our customers and service providers and in an effort to be part of a positive provincial and national effort, we have advised our staff in all office settings to begin working from home. The health and safety of our workforce and their families is our highest priority and we are doing what we can to slow the spread of the virus.

We want to assure you that we are set up to continue to provide reliable daily services as if we are in an office environment. Our teams are completely set up to operate remotely and our customers and employees should not expect any service interruption.

We have added a page to our website: <https://www.backwoodsenergy.ca/covid19/>. Check it regularly as we will be continuously updating it with links, news and applicable documents.

Take care of yourselves, your families and your teams.
